Romeo, Italian Auto Maker, Dies

COMO, Italy, Aug. 16 (AP)—Senator Nicola Romeo, 62, Italian automobile manufacturer, died yesterday. His Alfa Romeo racing cars set records throughout the world.

U. S. to Deport Woman, Son

Immigration authorities here today announced orders to deport Mrs. Albertine Marie Hamel, 32, Park street, Hartford, Ct., and her son, Gerald, 14, charged with being in this country from Canada illegally. Two other children, Roger, 11, and Maurice, 12, born in the United States, will not be admitted by Canadian authorities because of Mrs. Hamel's "poverty," it was stated. Both Roger and Maurice, according to officials here, have been in an institution for children for the past six years, and Mrs. Hamel, it was stated, has been receiving relief since 1931.

"Humisery" was Boston's weather word today.

The city sweltered as temperatures soared toward a new high for the season.

The rush to the beaches started early, but most office and factory workers had to toil and "take it."

A light but cooling breeze from the east brought at least some temporary relief to the downtown district, just before noon.

HEAT OFF 5 POINTS

It tumbled the mercury from a near-record 93 at 11 a. m. to a more bearable 88 an hour later.

By 1 p. m., Old Sol was again getting the better of the sun-and-wind tussle. Ter thermometer said 89 officially, and the temperature trend was definitely upward.

In Revere, a motorman operating a beach-bound trolley car, crowded with more than 80 passengers, fainted from the heat.

Before he collapsed, he managed to guide his car through heavy traffic, near Beach street circle, and bring it to a stop.

DIES FLEEING HEAT

A Canton man, climbing out of his bedroom window to a roof to escape the heat, fell 30 feet to the ground. He died at Norwood Hospital.

In Fall River, a laundry worker died of heat exhaustion after collapsing at work.

Fall River mills, employing several thousand persons, shut down at noon because of the oppressive weather.

Postmaster Peter F. Tague ordered downtown Boston mail deliveries curtailed to a minimum, to relieve distress of carriers.

WPA MEN LAID OFF

Works Progress Administration officials directed that labor on projects be suspended at noon, in most communities. In Somerville, 1700 men were sent home from WPA jobs.

Boy Hermit Out Of Cape Woods

CARVER, Aug. 16 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Alfred S. Dirkevorkian of West Bridgewater, today emerged from the Myes Standish State Forest, ending a five-day self-imposed hermitage.

Apparently little affected by his stay in the woods, during which he subsisted largely on berries, the boy left immediately for his home with his step-father.

The youth, believed suffering from a nervous breakdown due to overstudy, has led a posse of 150 men a fruitless search since Thursday. He came out of the woods as police had all but lost patience.

WPA Favors Reds, Claim

Known radicals are being given WPA work here in preference to law-abiding American citizens, according to charges made to the Dies congressional committee and revealed today by Edward F. Sullivan, Boston investigator.

Red Head?

NAMED IN QUIZ—Miss Florence H. Luscomb of Allston today was named as a Communist leader at Dies congressional probe of un-American activities. She denied the allegation.

"Charges have been made," said Sullivan, "that preference is given to radicals also in advancements, raises in pay and on layoffs."

"I hardly believe that persons in charge of WPA work in Boston and Washington, especially David Niles, who is a Bostonian, countenances any such activities, but the charges are being thoroughly investigated."

REDS ACTIVE HERE

"Some reports of the action of the Dies committee have given the impression that there are no communistic activities in New England."

"That is not so. There are plenty of Communistic activities. The point I desire to bring out is that in comparison with other sections, New England is not so bad. Communistic tactics have not been able to succeed so well in New England."

"We know too well that there are colleges and schools in New England where Communists have penetrated. Religious organizations have not been spared."

DENIES CHARGES

Miss Florence H. Luscomb of Allston, twice a political candidate, was named today as a Communist leader at the Dies congressional committee probe.

The designation brought a denial from Miss Luscomb, organized of the League of Women Voters, once a candidate for city council and again for Congress from the ninth congressional district.

Her name was placed on the Dies committee Communist list only a few hours after the committee had set up offices at the Federal Building, where hearings on un-American and subversive activities in this area soon will begin.

HIT IN STATE REPORT

Only a little more than two months ago, Miss Luscomb was similarly held up as a Communist by the special commission authorized by the Legislature to investigate "isms" in Massachusetts.

The report of the state commission, headed by Senator Sybil Holmes, said that Miss Luscomb is "one of the leaders in Massachusetts of the United Office and Professional Workers of America," and that prior to the rise of the CIO she was an official of the Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Accountants Union, A. F. of L.

"On numerous occasions when she has been speaking in defense of Communism," said the Massachusetts report, "Miss Luscomb has seized the opportunity to state that she is not a Communist and that she has never contributed to the Communist party."

"She fails to state that she has been a member of the Friends of Soviet Russia and of the American League for Peace and Democracy and that, in 1936, when she ran for congressman from the 14th congressional district on the People's Labor ticket, she received contributions from three different branches of the Communist party."

Miss Luscomb, the report also charged, was chairman of the committee for the 1938 May Day rally in Boston.

Miss Luscomb said when reached at her summer home by a Boston Evening American reporter: "I have never cast a vote for a person whom I have known to be associated with Communism."

"The charge that I have engaged in un-American activities is ridiculous and will be so accepted by everyone who has ever known me."

Dies Hard, Frey Harder

MAN TO MAN—Both Frey (left) of the American Federation of Labor and Chairman Martin Dies of the congressional inquiry into un-American activities seemed carried away as they faced each other across the table at current investigation.

Charge WPA 'Red Front'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (INS)—The WPA is a "front organization" for the Communist party, a member of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities charged today.

The committeeman, Rep. Thomas (R.), of New Jersey, characterized the New Deal relief agency, headed by Harry L. Hopkins, as a "very dangerous organization."

Rep. Thomas' statement came as John P. Frey, spokesman for the American Federation of Labor, start today third day's testimony before the committee.

SIT-STRIKE CHARGE

Frey offered in evidence purported secret Stalinist documents to show that Communists were chiefly responsible for the great "sit-down" strike which paralyzed the automobile industry.

As Frey took the stand, International News Service was informed that charges of lavish spending by Russia to Sovietize the United States would be submitted to the committee. More than $5,000,000 a year in Communist money has been poured into this country, charges are expected to show.

Sketching Communist activities in the United Automobile Workers Union briefly, Frey said that Pres. Homer Martin of the union will later testify before the committee in detail.

BLAMES COMMUNISTS

"Were the Communists responsible for the 'sit down strike'?" asked Rep. Mosler (D.) of Ohio.

"Probably more than any other group," said Frey. "They were greatly influenced by what had happened in France."

Frey said the Communists now dominate the labor movement in France.

Asserting that the Communists have fought for control of the A. F. of L. as well as the CIO organization, Frey said that the last great Communist campaign to control the A. F. of L. was made at the Tampa, Fla., convention in 1936.

WARNED BY HEALEY

Frey, reaching for one of his many documents, named Albert Stokus, an original leader in the IWW, a charter member of the Communist party, as holding an official position in the utilities workers division of the CIO.

Frey then turned to the Workers Alliance of America, composed chiefly of WPA workers.

Rep. Thomas interrupted to make his charge that the WPA is a "front" for the Communist party. As Thomas called on Frey for names, Rep. Healey (D.) of Massachusetts, urged Frey to be cautious.

Stewart Hits Red Charges

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16 (AP)

—Donald Ogden Stewart, chairman of the Anti-Nazi League of Hollywood and of the Motion Picture Artists' committee of the North American committee to aid the Spanish democracy, today challenged a report of Edward Sullivan, investigator for the House committee on subversive activities, that "Communist activities are rampant among the studios of Hollywood."

Declaring Sullivan's charges "are in themselves a threat to Democracy," Stewart said:

"The Hollywood Anti-Nazi League repudiates this attack. We stand on our record and call for a real investigation of Nazi activities in this country, which—after exposing Nazi activities—will point out the need for action against it instead of attacking the organizations formed for the purpose of taking such action."

Girl, Dogs Hunt Boy

CARVER, Aug. 16—Two Great Dane dogs were set on the trail of 15-year-old Alfred Dirkevorkian, wandering Boy Scout, in Myles Standish forest today.

The boy was seen again shortly after 7 p. m., staggering across a bog, apparently in a weakened condition. He paid no attention to the shouts and importunities of the searching party.

Aiding police and other searchers today was expected to be young Alfred's favorite girl-friend. Her voice, it was said, would be broadcast through the woods from a sound truck.

OUNDS ON WAY

The Great Danes were set on the boy's trail by Hilary Bergman of Plymouth, their owner. They are on leash. They were given one of Alfred's blankets to sniff, and immediately put noses to the ground and set off into the forest.

Meanwhile, Rhode Island state police notified authorities here they were sending two bloodhounds.

Chief of Police Myron Hayden, of Carver, denied reports that he is calling his men off the search because "the continued expense is unfair to Carver taxpayers."

PLANES AID HUNT

Alfred's mother today expressed a new theory to account for the boy's flight from civilization. About a week before he vanished into the woods last Thursday, she said, he went swimming and may have suffered a sunstroke. He had been acting strangely ever since he reached home, she averred.

American Airlines officials today announced that all Boston-New York planes are being re-routed to fly over the forest, and will fly low. If any of the pilots, hostesses or passengers sight the boy, word will be flashed to the searchers by radio.

Hub Socialite Scales Peak

Society friends of Miss Christine Reid, Boston and Cohasset socialite, were today gasping at the news that she had made the hazardous climb to the top of Mt. Robson, near Vancouver, B. C., highest and most dangerous of the Canadian Rockies' peaks.

Miss Reid was one of a party of seven to make the difficult ascent, to a height of 12,972 feet.

Bride, 15, Plans Legal Battle

Fear that her 16-year-old husband's father, a WPA official, may obtain a transfer to another state and take his son away with him was expressed by 15-year-old Mrs. Virginia Jones Haskell in Lynn today.

"My father has hired a lawyer to fight any move to have our marriage annulled," Virginia, who eloped with Louis Haskell, Jr., two weeks ago, declared.

"They are keeping us apart. Louis had to sneak out of his house at 7 a. m. today to come over to see me. Then his father came and took him home."

MOTHER AIDS THEM

Louis' mother, however, returned with him shortly before noon and accompanied him and Virginia to Flax Pond, where they went swimming.

VIRGINIA HASKELL, JR.

Haskell, Sr., who came here from Chicago about a year ago, has threatened young Louis with reform school if he does not give up his child bride.

More seriously concerned today, however, was Virginia with reports that Haskell, Sr., is seeking a transfer on his WPA work, and may seek to compel Louis to go with him.

SAYS BRIDAL ILLEGAL

"If they try that, we'll show them a thing or two," she said desperately. "Louis and I love each other and want to be happy. Why won't they let us alone?"

City Clerk Joseph Atwill of Lynn has given Haskell, Sr., the opinion that the runaway marriage, performed in New Hampshire, is illegal because the young couple falsely stated their ages.

Vincent Astor Walks the Dog

His Luxury Yacht At Marblehead

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 16—This North Shore port of white sails in the sunrise has had an added social fillip today with the arrival of Vincent Astor and his luxury yacht Nourmahal for a view of the races.

The Astor yacht sailed into Marblehead Harbor and dropped anchor just before the King's Cup, second major yacht race in America, was run off yesterday, with Harold S. Vanderbilt, three-time America's Cup skipper, carrying off the honors.

With Astor is his almost constant companion, a panting dachshund, and with the elongated pet, the noted visitor paid a visit to the Eastern Yacht Club after the big race and again today.

Nourmahal is a yacht on which President Roosevelt several times has been a guest of the owner, during fishing trips off the coast of Florida.

How long Vincent Astor will remain at Marblehead was uncertain today, but many invitations are being extended to him to be a guest at various summer-time functions on the North Shore.

Cop Wins, Girl Loses

GREENFIELD, Aug. 16—Back pay and reinstatement as a member of the Greenfield police department were won today by J. Richard Laurie, hero officer ordered dismissed by selectmen on charges that he trifled with the affections of a 21-year-old heiress.

District Court Judge Abner S. McLeod ruled that Patrolman Laurie's removal from the force was unjustified and illegal.

The judge's decision, handed down today, was final, under civil service regulations.

Dismissal of Laurie, now nullified, was ordered six weeks ago by vote of two of Greenfield's three selectmen, after a public hearing.

Star witness against Laurie at the hearing was 21-year-old Miss Louise V. Dyer, granddaughter of the late Charles C. Dyer, wealthy Greenfield manufacturer.

She testified that Laurie, a married man and a father, paid her such marked attention that she "became infatuated" with him.

She told of alleged occasions when J. R. Laurie and she sat together in a parked automobile.

Her first meeting with Laurie was in a Deerfield night club, Miss Dyer testified.

After their friendship had grown warmer, she once lent the officer $1000 she said.

He returned this, she testified, but later, according to her story, he tried to borrow $500. She refused to make the loan, she said.

Offered in evidence at the hearing was a Christmas card, received by Miss Dyer, signed "Always X."

"X" was Laurie, Miss Dyer testified.

Miss Dyer's charges were delated by Laurie.

Public interest in Laurie's hearing was intensified because he had played a hero's role in a gun fight with a paroled Sing Sing prison convict a year before the "auto-parking shenk" charges were brought against him.

'Sub' Blast Laid To Oil Fumes

HONOLULU, Aug. 16 (AP)—Oil fumes from the crank case of a Diesel engine were blamed by navy officials today for an explosion aboard the submarine Nautilus which sent one officer and six enlisted men to the Pearl Harbor Hospital.

The explosion occurred while the crew was making engine adjustments shortly after the submersible returned from a sea trip yesterday. Forty men were aboard.

The injured were Lieutenant John R. Pierce, son of Dr. Claude C. Pierce, U. S. Public Health Service; Machinist's Mate Ernest C. Arbogast, Carleton, Neb.; Machinist's Mate William E. Hornby, Fall River, Mass.; Arthur G. Adams, Emmett, Ida.; Clarence B. Shepard, Paris, Ida.; Machinist's Mate First Class P. J. Cronin, Utica, N. Y.; and Fireman E. R. Enderlein of Hoboken, N. J.

Quincy Mystery Shot Laid to Boy

Mystery surrounding the shooting of Henry M. McQueeney, 35, at Merrymount Beach, Quincy, was believed cleared up today with the questioning of a 15-year-old boy.

Probe Death Of Woman, 58

NORTHAMPTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—At the direction of District Attorney Edward L. O'Brien, vital organs and other portions of the body of Mrs. Felicia Persons, 58, were sent to state police headquarters at Boston today for examination.

The woman died at the Northampton State Hospital August 13.

Train Kills Lexington Man

John Ready, 77, of 27 Cliff avenue, East Lexington, was killed today when struck by a Boston & Maine Railroad train at the Bow street crossing, near his home.

There are no gates at the crossing, but railroad officials claimed the flashing signals were working.

Sees Danger

WARNS VOTERS—Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., who declares third term for President Roosevelt would menace America's form of democratic government. He voiced opposition at Catholic Action Summer School opening.

The boy admitted to Acting Police Captain George W. Fallon that about the time McQueeney was shot he was "practicing" with a .22-calibre rifle on Half Moon Island, about a quarter of a mile off Merrymount Beach.

With him at the time, the boy said, were two girls. The rifle, he admitted, was being fired towards shore.

McQueeney, an advertising man recently come to Quincy from New York, was standing in the surf with his two-year-old daughter in his arms when he was struck in the abdomen by the mystery bullet.

Painfully wounded, he managed nevertheless, before collapsing, to stagger to shore with the little girl. At Quincy hospital today, his condition was said to be serious, and an emergency operation was to be performed to remove the bullet.

Early reports were that a "mysterious" automobile bearing New York license plates was seen to drive away from the beach shortly after the shooting. Captain Fallon said, however, he believed this merely to have been a coincidence. He is satisfied, he said, the boy's story of his rifle practice explains the shooting.

John and Anne At Sally's Party

His week-end at Nahant featured by the announcement of his engagement with Sally Clark, dancing sister-in-law of John Roosevelt, George X. McAnahan left for New York by air today.

A gala party at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, lasting until early this morning, climaxed the betrothal festivities. Exotic Sally, beautifully gowned in bolts de rose tinged with pink, and Anne Roosevelt were guests of honor.

The President's daughter-in-law wore a dress with turquoise sheer bodice, ruffled at the top. Like Sally, Anne was deeply tanned. As tanned and looking almost as young as her daughters was Mrs. F. Haven Clark, gowned in black lace.

The party was held in the roof garden where Sally made her debut to society by starting her career as professional singer and dancer.

John, Anne Hunting Home

John and Anne Roosevelt are going apartment hunting today. Back in Boston from their Bermuda honeymoon, the famous newlyweds spent the night at the Nahant home of Anne's mother, Mrs. F. Haven Clark, and prepared this morning to visit Brookline where they have decided to live.

In September John goes to work in William Filene's Sons department store for $18 a week.

Mass Tomorrow For Mrs. Lenane

Family and friends today mourned the death of Mrs. Catherine T. (nee Dunn) Lenane of Charlestown, who passed away Sunday morning.

Funeral will be from her home at 14 Concord street, Wednesday, at 8:35 a. m., with a requiem high mass in St. Francis de Sales Church at 9 o'clock.

Third Term U. S. Peril, Says Priest

Election of President Roosevelt to a third term would be a severe blow to democracy, Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., noted priest and author, declared today at the second day session of the Summer School for Catholic Action being held at Boston College.

Speaking before a group of young Catholic men and women, members of the Catholic Action, Fr. Lord stressed the importance of having capable men, whether they be Republican or Democrat, ready to assume the presidency.

"Democracy should have more than one leader," he said. "We should not depend on one man to run this great nation of ours. There should be others ready to take over the reins of government."

"President Roosevelt, according to reports, might seek a third term. If that is true, it only shows that we must depend on one man to run our government. This is not right."

Fr. Lord said he was in no way attacking the Roosevelt administration, but stressing the importance of frequent changes in political offices.

Sorry Plight Of Hitch-Hikers

Two youths from Dorchester and East Boston who thought they were lucky when given a ride in Revere by a young motorist, were intricately in the hands of Metropolitan police today. Their obliging new friend was stopped by officers near the Revere-Chelsea line and arrested as a car thief, and the hitch-hiking pair was held with him.

Deal O. K. Seen Lewis Boost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Presidential praise of Rep. David J. Lewis (D) Md., as a social security pioneer received general interpretation today as a boost for his campaign to unseat Senator Millard Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to Lewis last night at the end of a radio speech advocating extension of the Social Security Act, which the 69-year-old legislator helped draft. "I thank publicly, as I have so often thanked them privately," the President said, "four men who have had long and distinguished careers in the public service."

"Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland, who is known as one of the American pioneers in the cause of Social Security; Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, who also was long its advocate; Senator Harrison of Mississippi and Congressman Doughton of North Carolina, who carried the bill successfully through the Senate and the House of Representatives."

"They deserve and have the gratitude of all of us for this service to mankind!"

COMES AS SURPRISE

Mention of the quietest occasion surprised because White aides had said during the weekend that Mr. Roosevelt would not name names in the brief address. Inclusion of Harrison aroused special interest among politicians here, for he led to fight against administration tax provisions last spring.

Senator Wagner, who, like Lewis, is a staunch Roosevelt supporter, reaches the end of his term this year. It has been assumed he will seek re-nomination unless he is drafted to run for governor of New York.

There was immediate speculation as to whether Mr. Roosevelt would extend further help to Lewis before the September primary in Maryland.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope the next Congress would extend and improve the program, now limited to old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

He mentioned as possibilities the provision of medical service, liberalization of the old age insurance, and inclusion of additional groups of citizens in the program.

"What we are doing is good," the President said, but it is not good enough.

HAS OTHER AIMS

"If the people, during these years, had chosen a reactionary administration or a 'do nothing' Congress, social security would still be in the conversational stage—a beautiful dream which might come true in the dim distant future."

"To be truly national, a social security program must include all who need its protection."

Penn. Campaign List Under Fire

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said today the Senate campaign expenditures committee may ask Senator Chaffey (D-Pa.) to show it a mailing list used in requesting Pennsylvania campaign donations.

The committee was called together to consider charges which Sheppard said were made in a Philadelphia paper that such a request addressed to "Fellow Democrat," had been sent to state and federal office holders.

Guffey is treasurer of the Democratic campaign committee supporting Governor George H. Earle for senator and Thomas Kennedy for governor in Pennsylvania.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Five "Scottsboro case" Negro convicts will place pleas for freedom today before Governor Bibb Graves and the Alabama board of pardons.

Harvard Expert Raps Aid Method

State unemployment compensation is headed for failure and, in time, will have to be replaced by a federal system, according to a survey by James W. Horwitz of the bureau of business research of Harvard University Business School.

Horwitz bases his findings on an application of present state unemployment methods to known figures for the years 1919 to 1933. The trouble, he says, lies in the difference in unemployment in different states. Some states easily are able to accumulate reserves, while others, because of seasonal and cyclical ups and downs, will be hard put to it to keep unemployment funds solvent.

A single national pool of unemployment insurance funds would level these hills and valleys and ultimately would be found the only practicable method for the country as a whole, Horwitz predicts.

Defiant "Squealers Can't Convict Me," His Boast

SEES JURORS PICKED—Defiantly asserting that "squealers cannot convict me," James J. Hines, Tammany leader, watched the slow process of picking jurors to try him.

Lawyers in Bitter Tilt At Hines' Graft Trial

By EDWIN C. HILL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—James J. Hines, for more than a quarter of a century powerful in the councils of Tammany Hall, went into the second day of his trial with Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey and his own chief counsel, Lloyd P. Stryker, apparently trying to find a jury that doesn't read the newspapers, listen to gossip and believes in Santa Claus and that babies are brought by storks.

Alert as a pair of bloodhounds on the trail, both Dewey and Stryker, subtly striving for psychological advantage, determined that no juror would be accepted who had implied in preliminary questioning slightest hint of bias or prejudice, completely cleaned out the jury box late yesterday and then surprisingly accepted six jurors in the last hour.

This morning four more jurors were chosen in rapid order.

ON TRAIL OF MONEY

The quizzing of the talesmen by Dewey seemed to suggest that he intends to search every legitimate source of Hines' income in recent years—the various sources of his reputedly considerable fortune.

And when those sources are obtained, and the amounts credited to each, he hopes to find certain sums of money unaccounted for in a legitimate way.

Then, utilizing the testimony of "Duke" Davis, who was "Dutch" Schultz's legal adviser and the policy chief's resourceful mouthpiece, and also the testimony of other former associates of the late "Dutch," he hopes to show that the money unaccounted for by legitimate explanation was derived from protection paid at the rate of $500 a week and $1000 a week to Hines as a member of a conspiracy to violate the lottery law.

JUDGE LENDS A HAND

Even in these preliminary hours of what is certain to prove the most sensational trial in many years, a tense and fighting atmosphere hangs over the courtroom, where Justice Ferdinand Pecora presides with so much dignity and an evident effort to be fair to both sides.

At times when the questions of counsel seemed confusing, Justice Pecora struck through mazes of words with clear, direct queries which brought forth simple, positive answers. Leaning forward and resting his chin in the palm of his right hand, the justice missed not a word or a gesture of the by-play between the prosecutor, the leading counsel for the defendant and the talesmen.

HINES AT EASE

Hines is not the conventional picture of the burly, autocratic Tammany leader. He looks the part of a benevolent, elderly gentleman, who is probably adored by his grandchildren and held in great affection by thousands of others.

His face is pink and white, set with Irish blue eyes, and rather peculiar for a thin-lipped mouth which curls up a little at the corner.

He dresses well, in a plain blue double-breasted suit, blue tie, white shirt and black shoes.

'Is'm' Charge Basis In Nuptial Suit

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (INS)—Setting a legal precedent, Mrs. Agnes M. Hartje, today had filed suit for annulment of her 16-year-old marriage to William Hartje on the grounds he is a member of "unpatriotic organizations."

Mrs. Hartje charges her husband was a member of the Ku Klux Klan and her attorney adds that Hartje also was a member of the German-American bund.

Andrews Ready To Administer Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (INS)—Elmer Andrews of New York was scheduled to be sworn in today as administrator of the new wage-hour law going into effect October 24.

Lord Beaverbrook Sees: No European War This Year

While Germany masses a million armed men near the French and Czech borders for her greatest post-war military maneuvers, Europe is jittery that some spark might set off another world conflict. Lord Beaverbrook sounds a calm note.

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

LONDON, Aug. 16.—There will be no war in Europe this year.

My authority is Lord Beaverbrook.

And his authority is years of experience and confirmed judgments in international affairs.

He is a strange prophet in foreign politics. He has been usually right—and that is a feat. For five years, while experts have been prognosticating war in Europe on several occasions, Beaverbrook refused to believe them. He was right. History is his witness.

He refuses to believe the predictions of an immediate war now disturbing the peoples of the world.

UNBIASED OBSERVER
A dynamic pacifist, one of the world's greatest business men, maker and unmaker of British politicians and ministers, Beaverbrook insists on maintaining his most important role—that of an unbiased observer of facts.

"People have gone mad in Britain and America on account of the fear of war," he told me. "This fear is slowing up industry and commerce here and abroad. It is causing much dislocation of business and markets."

"And fear is manufactured by public opinion. Fear is manufactured in the board rooms of the great business houses of London and Paris. Foolish and talkative ministers spread the bad rumors and unemployed peers who have nothing else to do give circulation to the tales."

"There is no basis for this dread of war. Germany can not and will not march into Czechoslovakia. It is not the same thing as marching into Austria at all. The Czechs will fight. Austria would not."

"The Czechs are well armed, and Austria was not. The Czechs have an air fleet. The Austrians couldn't handle airplanes at all."

FURY OF ENEMIES

"If Germany did march into Czechoslovakia they would lose hundreds of thousands of men and they would expose themselves to the fury of their enemies in the east and west—France and Russia—and certain destruction."

"Besides, the Germans are not in a position to fight. Their strength is much less than in reports they circulate through gullible British citizens and some trusting Americans who are entertained at the expense of the German air ministry and then sent home again to 'throw the ball'."

"Besides, the air arm as a weapon has been deflated of late. In the Spanish war, Barcelona cannot be brought low although air bases are within 50 miles of that capital where the German and Italian airplanes are at the disposal of General Franco's forces. And in China the Japanese air forces has not been able to force a decision."

"There will be no war in Europe this year. There will be no war next year. When war does come, British interests will not be involved and Britain will not be in it."

ASSURES WORLD—Lord Beaverbrook, famous British publisher, who declares there is no sign of early war in Europe. He made his re-assuring statement in exclusive interview with Hearst newspapers.

Guard Shanghai In Terror Rule

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16 (INS)—American, British and other foreign military authorities here today established strong armed patrols in every sector of Shanghai's International Settlement to cope with the rising threat of terrorism.

The patrols were organized after a special meeting of the foreign commanders at which a plan was adopted for swift action to end terrorist outbreaks.

This move was prompted by the recent arrests of civilian Japanese army agents by American and British forces for allegedly fomenting disorders, as well as by Chinese terrorist bombings and other disorders in the settlement.

Six Jewish Men Slain by Arabs

JERUSALEM, Aug. 16 (INS)—Six Jewish men were shot and killed and two Jewish women were wounded when Arab terrorists opened fire from ambush on a Jewish bus along a road in the Mount Carmel district near Haifa.

British troops rushed to the scene and killed seven of the Arab gunmen in a bloody battle. The Arab band was dispersed into the hills.

As Palestine's sanguine inter-racial warfare flared up anew, an Arab was mysteriously shot and critically wounded in the old city of Jerusalem.

Both incidents intensified the bitterness between the Jews and Arabs.

Hibernians, Police Clash in Ireland

PORTGLENONE, County Antrim, Ireland, Aug. 14 (AP)—A free-for-all fight between police and members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians resulted today in many injuries and nine arrests.

When 150 Hibernians attempted to force their way into a section of town roped off by police, the latter charged and clubbed the demonstrators amid wild scenes.

Czech Reserves Face Call in German Crisis

PILAGUE, Aug. 16 (INS)—Czechoslovakia's supreme defense council met today while Germany's war machine swung into its rehearsal paces across the frontiers.

Simultaneously, the possibility arose of some sudden turn within the next few days in the Czech-Nazi crisis.

Viscount Runciman, Britain's unofficial mediator between the Czechoslovak government and Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German party, returned to Prague from a week-end in the country.

He made arrangements at once to hold a joint conference Wednesday with representatives of both the government and Henlein whose party demands self-rule for Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germans.

Wednesday's conference will constitute the first concrete move by Lord Runciman to reconcile the conflicting attitudes of the Czechs and the Henleinists.

British Rule Hangs 2nd Jew

JERUSALEM, Aug. 16 (AP)—The second Jew to be hanged during British rule of Palestine died in Acre prison today.

Mordecai Schwartz, 25-year-old police constable, pleaded that Palestine Jewry should not make him a martyr as they did Solomon Ben Joseph, whose hanging June 29 precipitated the bloodiest Jewish-Arab violence in recent history.

Schwartz, a Czechoslovak Jew, was convicted of murdering an Arab policeman with whom he guarded the summer camp of the British high commissioner last September.

Ben Joseph, 19, was convicted of firing upon an Arab bus April 21.

Schwartz' case dated back to September, 1937, when there were several attacks around Alhith, a thinly populated section near Haifa. Police placed him and an Arab constable there to guard against bandits.

Hitler Move Stirs Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (INS)—Chancellor Hitler, after inaugurating Germany's show of war might with a review of crack troops at Jüterbog, hurried back to Berlin unexpectedly and plunged into a conference with his highest military and cabinet aides.

A few hours later the war ministry announced the calling up of reservists for the army maneuvers will apply to Austria, which has a long common boundary with Czechoslovakia, as well as applying to Germany proper.

CAUSES STIR

The Fuehrer's surprise return to the capital and his consultation with army and government chiefs aroused immediate and excited speculation in Berlin's foreign diplomatic quarters.

It was learned that the six-week war rehearsal and the forthcoming visit to Berlin of Hungary's regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, comprise the major topics of discussion at the unheralded conference in Hitler's chancellery.

The meeting was held amid an atmosphere of some public uneasiness with regard to Czechoslovakia and the general European situation. This was reflected in a sharp slump suffered by the Berlin stock market.

The annual army maneuvers, expected to involve more than 1,000,000 men under arms, with Europe's major powers and Czechoslovakia serving as an anxious audience,

Belgians Mass 40,000 Troops

BRUSSELS, Aug. 16 (AP)—Forty thousand Belgian soldiers were massed along the German frontier today for maneuvers intended to prove this country will never become another Austria.

The Belgian war games, along both the Netherlands and German borders, began today and continue through Aug. 22.

The maneuvers will be the most spectacular ever held in this country and will be geared to the defense problems of the eastern frontier, where 24 years ago this month the German juggernaut crushed hastily-mobilized Belgian defenders.

Deadlock Holds On Beacon Hill

Democratic members of the legislature voted in caucus today to continue to "stand pat" behind Governor Hurley's $5,000,000 gas tax spending program.

Republican members, likewise in caucus, were expected to continue adamant in their demand that the money be distributed to cities and towns instead of handled by the State Department of Public Works, as Governor Hurley proposes.

All records for continuous session of the legislature were broken by today's session, called with the deadlock still unbroken.

The longest the legislators ever sat before was prorogue until August 15.

A majority of both branches of the Legislature are holding out for expending control to rest with authorities in cities and towns where highways are built.

Other measures to be considered are a $20,740,000 high pressure tunnel from Sudbury to Chestnut Hill to save the Greater Boston water supply from pollution, and a $500,000 appropriation for construction of a hospital building at the Chelsea Soldiers' Home.

Again at Quiz On 'Gift Jobs'

State investigation of the unemployment compensation commission precipitated a clash today between the attorney-general's office and counsel for the legislative committee investigating so-called "gift jobs."

Demands of Assistant Attorney-General John S. Derham that three of the committee's investigators be sent to his office for questioning were met with refusal by Attorney Warren Patten, counsel for the legislative committee.

Derham was assigned the task of investigating complaints in which Judge Emil Fuchs, chairman of the unemployment commission, charged a "frameup" of Alfred E. Spohrer, former baseball catcher and now superintendent of the unemployment office.

Spohrer was found not guilty recently in East Boston court of larceny charges that grew out of testimony before the legislative committee by East Boston men and women that he had taken their compensation after notifying them they had received it illegally.

After today's setback with Derham, Attorney Patten finally agreed to notify the committee that the request for questioning of investigators had been made.

"I don't see what right the attorney-general's department has to question any agent of a legislative body that is conducting an investigation," Patten said. "Mr. Derham has a transcript of testimony before the committee; the testimony in East Boston court and he has questioned the parties concerned. It will be interesting to see what decision he makes."

Beaten in Quarrel, Newport Man Dies

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16 (AP)—Badly beaten in a dispute with fellow residents of his apartment house, Paul Rodriguez, 45, of East street, Newport, collapsed and died here today in what Medical Examiner Maurice J. Butler said "looks like a case of murder."

Police said Rodriguez' roommate, Antonio J. Pinto, 36, told them Rodriguez had been in an argument in a downstairs apartment shortly before he died.

Shaw, O'Neil, Dreiser Books Flayed by Priest

Writings of Emile Zola, Eugene O'Neill, George Bernard Shaw, Theodore Dreiser, Flaubert, Steinbeck, Faulkner and Dostoevski were assailed today at Boston College as "pagan literature."

The attack was made by the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J., general director of the Summer School for Catholic Action, before 800 students at the school.

"Writings of these authors," asserted the Jesuit, "are an insult to human intelligence, because they are live-pagan literature presenting man at his very lowest and basest."

"O'Neill's writings are futile tragedies, while Shaw's are human contempt."
"The immoral literature which is now being pushed out on the public, with woman as the objective of man's procreative urge, is dirty, rotten filth."

"This literature creates a loss of faith in God and a loss of Christian self-respect, which was founded in what God thought of us."

He called upon the delegates to aid in curbing distribution of such writings.

Tom-Toms Beat For Gov. Hurley

Governor Hurley's campaign for a second term started in high gear today with a spectacular barrage of ballyhoo for his formal campaign opening at Pemberton Inn tonight.

Throughout Boston around truck with four amplifiers and carrying a replica of the State House loomed the streets as the main "land" attraction.

An airplane swept the skies most of the day with a trailer banner which read:

"Governor Charles F. Hurley for a Second Term."

For advertising on the sea, many small craft in the harbor were adorned with Hurley signs.

Tonight's affair is a testimonial to the governor and Mrs. Hurley. The location is the same as that of two years ago when he started his campaign for the term he is now serving. The governor's speech is to be broadcast between 10 and 11 o'clock.

WPA OK's Newton $235,000 School

SUMMER CO-EDS—Students Virginia Fisher (left) and Mary Lerid, both of Newton and delegates from Regis College, heard the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., assert that a third term for President Roosevelt would menace America's form of government. The priest spoke at the Summer School of Catholic Action.

Pollution Drive Ready to Start

Action toward elimination of pollution in the waters of Boston harbor and Quincy Bay will be started next Tuesday, when the special legislative commission to investigate pollution holds its first meeting.

This first formal meeting will be held at the State House, and in the probe the public will be given an opportunity to express its views at least one hearing, according to Senator Harris S. Richardson of Winchester, the chairman.

Before issuing a call for the initial session, Richardson conferred with Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, and a member of the investigating commission.

After the conference, Hultman, a member of the 1935 legislative commission which investigated the same subject, told the Boston Evening American:

"It's too bad the Legislature did not pay more attention to the report the 1935 commission filed in 1936. If it had done so, we might have secured PWA funds with which to eliminate the nuisance."

TREAT RAW SEWAGE

"There is only one answer to the elimination of pollution of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay and that is through the treatment of raw sewage which is now being dumped at Deer Island, Nut Island and Moon Island."

"I have inspected the treatment works at Perth Amboy, N. J., and it operates very well. I believe the commission should thoroughly investigate all methods of disposal before arriving at a conclusion."

"In connection with the elimination of pollution at Greater Boston Beaches it will be necessary to enlarge the Charles river sewer, which was built about 40 years ago."

"No sewer was ever built for more than 30 to 40 years' service. All of them have outlived their usefulness at the end of that time. The North Metropolitan relief sewer which is now being constructed with the aid of federal money, is computed to be of use until 1970."

PHYSICIANS AWARE

Greater Boston physicians are aware of the danger to bathers that results from dumping raw sewage into Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Dr. Henry M. Landesman of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, is one of the many physicians who realize the dangers. In a letter to the Boston Evening American he wrote:

"Your paper deserves the highest praise and should be congratulated for taking a great interest in, and action against, an evil which has been going on for several years, the pollution of the waters at the beaches."

DR. H. M. LANDESMAN

The situation is disgraceful and disgusting.

"A few years ago, I had occasion to see and treat a number of children and adults who had impetigo contagiosa, and it was rather odd that every one of these patients had been at Carson Beach (South Boston) and City Point (South Boston), and after getting back to their homes, other members of the family were infected, and the children passed it around to the neighbors. There were cases of dysentery among them."

Hearst Heads In Telephone Round-Table

Sounding the keynote of optimism for American business, 50 New England executives of Hearst Enterprises, Inc., joined a unique four-way telephone broadcast yesterday between Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago for the purpose of round-table co-operation between Hearst publications.

Three executives, speaking from New York, outlined the progressive program of the Hearst organization to the New England group gathered at a luncheon at the Hotel Statler.

The New York speakers were Joseph V. Connolly, general manager of the Hearst Enterprises, Inc.; Thomas J. White, chairman of the board of directors, and Richard E. Berlin, general manager of Hearst magazines.

The Statler luncheon was attended by the following executives: John T. Lambert, associate publisher of Hearst newspapers in Boston; John A. Malloy, managing editor of Hearst newspapers in Boston; Ernest Hofzyer, advertising director of Hearst newspapers in Boston; J. W. Kenney, circulation manager of Hearst newspapers in Boston; H. G. Kern, director Hearst International Advertising Service in Boston; E. J. Rhattigan, business manager of Hearst Boston newspapers and other notables.

New England magazine executives included: Robert Drake of Harper's Bazaar, A. Ford and J. P. Embich of House Beautiful and Town and Country, Edward Stiner of Good Housekeeping, Frank O. Young, Pictorial Review and Jellineator; Leon W. Stetson and Nicholas Amos of the American Weekly.

The purpose of the round-table was to stress better co-operation between executives and stimulate the new progressive movement in the Hearst organization.

He Was Right, So Leg's Broken

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP)—A broken leg has satisfied Henry Merkord, 39, Germania mechanic, that he was right—the brakes on a customer's car weren't quite adjusted. To test them, he told the customer, Herman Baulig, of Egg Harbor, to get in the car, drive toward him and to slam on the brakes a few yards away. Baulig did so—and Merkord went to the hospital.

No, Sir, We're Not Alone in Our Misery

By the Associated Press

Virtually the entire country sweltered today in a heat wave with a record high temperature for the year threatened in parts of the East.

Increasing humidity made the mounting heat more oppressive. In the East, a little relief was in sight, with a forecast of scattered thunder showers.

The mercury soared in the north and middle Atlantic states, the middle sections of the Gulf states, on the north Pacific slope, and in Montana.

Weather a little cooler prevailed in the Great Lakes region, the Ohio valley, Kansas, Oklahoma and Iowa, with heavy rains dissipating the heat in some sections.

SOME HAVE FLOODS

In Illinois, the Galena river, swollen near flood proportions, started to recede. Water stood two feet deep in the business section of Galena after yesterday's rainfall. Rivers still were rising in southern Wisconsin.

Discouraged New Yorkers went to work with the mercury climbing yesterday's hour by hour. Yesterday's high, 83, in Manhattan, set a record for the year and broke the Aug. 15 record.

HUMIDITY FOR EASTPORT, ME.

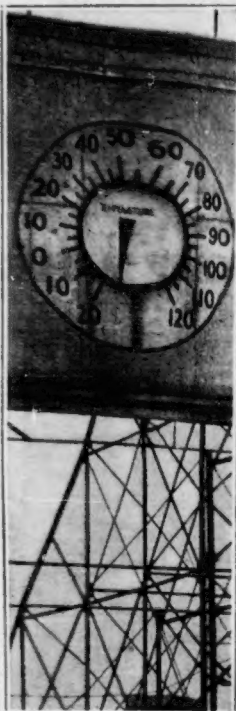

Prospective thunderstorms promised relief to Washington, where a summer's record was set yesterday with 86.4 degrees. Several hundred government clerks in non-air conditioned buildings were let off in mid-afternoon.

In Newark, Baltimore, Wilmington and Pittsburgh, which had record-breaking heat yesterday, no immediate relief was in sight.

The humidity was 94 in Buffalo, N. Y., which had one heat death and one prostration. In Concord, N. H., market gardeners reported the heat was damaging their crops.

Eastport, Me., was the coolest spot east of the Rockies, temperature—58.

Wounded Youth Held in Shooting

A youth allegedly wounded by a bullet from his own gun during a scuffle with a policeman was held in $500 in Dorchester court today charged with assault on the officer with intent to murder.

The defendant, James Sullivan, 24, of Penahollow street, Dorchester, waived examination and was committed to Charles street jail in default of bail.

Sullivan was taken to court from City Hospital, where he had been under treatment since the shooting, July 24.

He had been taken in custody at the home of his estranged wife, Mrs. Cora Sullivan, in Leroy street, Dorchester.

Patrolman Thomas Farrell and another officer started to take him to the station when he drew an automatic pistol, they said. A bullet entered Sullivan's thigh.

This formula, which speedily relieves muscular aches and pains, was developed by a physician. Nurite is dependable—contains no opiates or narcotics. If you want to feel again the joy of relief from pain, and avoid needless agony that prevents sound sleep, ask now for Nurite, under this iron-clad guarantee. If the very first three doses of Nurite do not relieve your intense pain in your satisfaction—your money will be refunded.

Toe Hurt, Al Smith Limp to Parley

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16 (INS)—Former Gov. "Al" Smith walked with a limp today. As he entered the constitutional convention hall to take his delegate's seat, he favored his left foot. Al said he had stubbed his big toe while swimming.

Boston brought scant solace to inland areas.

In most Greater Boston communities the mercury continued to climb into the middle and high 90's.

The best hope the forecaster could offer was that of increasing cloudiness and possible showers late today or tonight.

The humidity half of Boston's "humisery" was not much above August average today. But the misery half was steadily increasing, as the heat wave went into its third 24-hour period.

The Fall River death today was that of John H. Knight, 36, of Hartwell street.

He collapsed at his work in a laundry and died at Fall River General Hospital.

The Boston Elevated motorman who collapsed while operating a trolley car in Revere was Claire H. Chaney, Jr., 37, of Broadway, Revere.

After receiving medical treatment at the car barn in Revere, he was sent home.

The Canton heat victim, who fell off a roof, was Barney McCabe, 73, of Meyer terrace.

Metropolitan district police and authorities of Greater Boston towns and cities instructed life guards and officers on beach duty to exercise maximum vigilance against drownings.

Yesterday's heat, reaching a season's high and an all-time record for the date, at 94, brought six deaths attributable to the weather.

They included four drownings and two heat fatalities.

Today's official temperature was 89 at 10 a. m. in Boston, but readings at police stations and city engineer's offices in surrounding communities were up in the 90's.

Yesterday's victims of heat prostration included James F. Sullivan, 43, of Boston, and Mrs. Bridget E. Flynn, 69, of Cliftondale, mother of Trial Justice Charles E. Flynn of Saugus court.

Among the drowning victims was Ernest Blanchard, 54, of Central street, South Weymouth, drowned when he apparently fell from his motorboat in Quincy Bay.

"THE DIAMOND BRAND"

Dodge Bride's Story of Tragedy

Before Fatal Blast—Heir to $9,000,000, Daniel C. Dodge, poses with his telephone operator bride, the former Laurine MacDonald, shortly before his death and her serious injury in dynamite explosion at Little Current, Ont.

he was thrown to the floor.

"There was a second stick of dynamite on the window sill and the explosion set this piece off as well. Mrs. Dodge said she and Bryant were outside the garage looking through the window and they were struck by the second blast and showered with broken glass."

BRIDE STEERS BOAT

Bryant later stated that, in part, I was in critical condition at Mendonville Hospital, where Mrs. Dodge and Valquette were treated for less serious injuries.

Mrs. Bryant, back in the boat, miles bucking a heavy sea had to give up because her arms gave out. She turned the controls over to Valquette.

LEAPS FROM BOAT

"Just at that time, eight miles from Little Current, I saw Daniel leap from the boat into the water. I screamed. Mrs. Dodge turned and saw her husband disappear. Valquette checked the speed of the boat, cranked back and we caught a last fleeting glance of Daniel.

"We tried our best to rescue him, but he disappeared from view and we had to rush to Little Current as my husband was very badly hurt.

"After the explosion Mrs. Dodge ran to the car to drive to Little Current for help. Then she decided the speedboat would get us there faster, so Mrs. Dodge and Valquette and I picked up Daniel and carried him to the speedboat. He had a bad laceration on his head and his arm was almost shot off.

"Daniel, my husband and myself were in the back of the boat. Mrs. Dodge took the controls while Valquette was busy tending the wounds of all those who were hurt. Laurine, after eight

Mrs. Dodge went all pale and I thought she was going to follow Daniel into the water."

Mrs. Rita Gerwin a friend whom Mrs. Dodge called to the hospital said the injured wife told her there was a three-minute fire attached to the dynamite and it was this which was ignited by Valquette.

Dodge, she believed, had intended to throw the lighted stick away like a firecracker.

Dodge's Widowed Bride Won't Receive Millions

DETROIT Aug. 16 (AP)—Daniel C. Dodge, drowned yesterday near Little Current, Ont., left a will naming his wife as the sole beneficiary of the $9,000,000 trust fund established for the benefit of his wife and children. The widow would not share in the $9,000,000 trust fund established by her husband.

Charles P. Smith, executor of the trust, said today that Mrs. Dodge was leaving the $9,000,000 trust fund to her wife and children. The trust was established for the benefit of his wife and children.

"The John F. Dodge will does not provide for the wife of Daniel and the life income from the trust fund established for Daniel is not transferable to his wife," Smith said. "The income terminates at Daniel Dodge's death."

There is an amount of accumulated income from the trust which is unused. It belonged to Daniel Dodge and Mrs. Dodge will receive her share of this and of any other property owned outright by her husband.

No estate was available of the accumulated income which comes from the other part of Daniel Dodge's estate.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

MAINLY PERSONAL—Eddie Duchin, a good-looking native of Greater Boston (some say Cambridge, some say the West End) and Happy Rubinowitz says Revere was given a warm welcome at the Ritz Carlton Roof last night. . . . Mr. Duchin was not the only handsome lad present. . . . John Roosevelt, a couple of inches or so taller and equally aquiline and attractive of feature, also was among those there.

Sally Clark was also present. . . . George Namer McLanahan, who is expected to lead the comely Sally to the altar six months hence, also was quietly among the "names" which will stud the society reports. . . . Also present was Mrs. F. Haven Clark, mother of the widely-publicized Nahant maidens.

Your reporter learned that Mrs. Clark has "caught" every check-in cash—presented by a Ritz waiter since Sally began her professional career three weeks ago. . . . Whether the engagement of Sally bowed over the adding machines onto the black side, rather than the red, is something that will remain between Mrs. Clark, Ed Wyner, proprietor of the Ritz Carlton and Sally herself.

George Holland

The Duchin band was a tremendous success. And to a part little blonde, an athlete named Ruth Aaron. . . . She is the table tennis champion of these here United States and the so-called civilized world. . . . Opposing a good-looking Hungarian named Glance, Miss Aaron showed an indisputable prowess at the indoor net game.

She was so convincing as she bested her partner that your correspondent cast a weather eye over the famous Ritz Roof to see if Paul Bowser, the sporting entrepreneur, were not present. . . . Paul wasn't there. But two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor were revealed to the naked eye. . . . One was Candidate James M. Curley and the other was Candidate Richard Russell, whose father was once a governor of Massachusetts.

Candidate Curley's presence was not a matter of electing him, but rather of the Duchin premiere as the last night of the party. . . . The party was a birthday party for the Ritz Carlton. . . . The party was a birthday party for the Ritz Carlton. . . . The party was a birthday party for the Ritz Carlton.

Notable among the guests was Jack Robbins, a former Bostonian newspaperman who has risen (at forty-six) to the position of the biggest publishing firm in the world. . . . Mention of Jack seems necessary because the current great rivalry in the song-plugging business is the one between him and Irving Berlin, composer of "Alexander's Ragtime Band." For more than a dozen years, Mr. Berlin holds the championship of the paper-circles (shot by a rubber band) tournaments along old Broadway.

Mr. Berlin is a song publisher, and a sense of humor sticks through his literary offices. . . . Under the picture of Mr. Berlin, himself, in the general manager's office is a plaque, about six inches square, which was once presented the rival Mr. Robbins as a testimonial. . . . Mr. Robbins is a professional manager, Harry Link, a former rival of Mr. Berlin, because the elfin Irving cannot resist the temptation of a personal sized ding-shot at the piano, when Mr. Robbins is at the piano. . . . Mr. Link is under it. It seems too bad that Mr. Link and Mr. Berlin could not have enjoyed each other's company at the party. . . . They went home a week ago.

Once Over Lightly:

Sheila Barrett, who is at Chassett training for the James Connally "7-11" might be forked if she wrote a letter to Walter Winchell, who squashed stories of Sheila's announced engagement to Paul Gallico, the writer.

Gallico's name has been linked for many months with that of Dorothy Kilgallen, who flew around the world and reported her experiences. Winchell's clamp-down on the Gallico-Barrett rumors was effected without mentioning Sheila's name, which is indication that a real "misunderstanding" has cropped up there.

James H. Shelden, professor of political science and author of "New Deal Frontiers" having to do with labor questions, was a guest at the party. He is said to be the primary victim of a rumor that he was once George H. W. Bush, a fact which is not true. . . . Henry Armstrong and the Yankees. . . . Mr. Shelden, two chapters, and history.

Death Ends Rare Courage

YONKHAILE, N. Y. Aug. 16.

A young man, who was known for his rare courage, died today. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage.

The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage.

Strongest Thing

The strongest thing I ever saw was a young man who was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage.

The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage. . . . The young man was known for his rare courage.

Discover Boston's

"Sales-Power Medium"

PLOTKIN BROS., alert Boylston Street merchants, have a reputation for offering quality clothing and accessories for women—at value-ful prices.

Plotkin Bros. pondered on the sales-and-profit opportunity represented by the 494,000 Cash Register families of the Boston Record-American—the 487,000 Sunday Advertiser families . . . then acted.

First, an advertisement in the Sunday Advertiser on June 12. Results called for a test of the newly-combined Record-American on Monday, June 27 . . . and despite rain on the 27th and 28th very satisfactory results were obtained, indicating a "sell out" if fair weather had helped.

Then, a result-getting insertion on Tuesday, July 5. Next, an advertisement on $2.95 dresses, with 216 dresses sold, many new customers made, Boston's "sales-power" advertising medium, a new outlet for volume sales, discovered by Plotkin Brothers.

Have you made this valuable discovery, Mr. Merchant?

Dance Closes
Race Week

By BETTY ALDEN

SAILORS on shore leave, out in chaffon and laved, jammed the Eastern Yacht Club last night to celebrate the close of the Marblehead Yacht Race Week.

Most of the visiting sailors, as well as the Navy, who were present in the afternoon came ashore as early as possible to change from their rough yachting clothes into summer formal clothes for one of the numerous runners and up to five many of the guests would find the harbor.

The owners and guests of the visiting N. A. Y. A. Yacht Club, who had been in the harbor since the morning, were looking up to a position near the clubhouse, the launchers were ready for the start of the race, and the race was on.

Nancy Lester, who was pink and white, wearing a white and white dress, was in her room for her afternoon sailing aboard the Yacht. She was changed to a formal white dress, and was given the same as the other guests. Her sister, Mary L. Marsh, who was a guest, was one of the many dancing the light fantastic to the strains of Harry Marsh's music while others in the back gown enhanced with red flowers; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harding, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Parker, Nancy Bertelson and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milton.

Paul Tucker was also in the group of dancers.

His sister, Nancy, and their mother, Mrs. Philip M. Tucker, enjoyed a nautical afternoon watching the races from the decks of a U. S. destroyer. After the races they were ferried in the boat to the harbor, where Vincent Astor climbed into the mahogany tender which ferried him back and forth to his palatial "Nourmahal." As he was boarding the ferry he took great pride in pointing out that his little dachshund is a great sailor and never misses a ride ashore to meet his master.

Clarks Again at Ritz Roof

ONCE AGAIN THE CLARKS were one of the chief attractions at the Ritz Roof. Though Sally completed her singing engagement there last Saturday, members of her family caused considerable training of necks when they arrived to take their corner the next evening. For not only had Sally just announced her engagement to George McAnahan, but her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Rosevelt, were making their first appearance since returning from Bermuda.

Sally came in a deep green gown of filmy chiffon, made with a pleated skirt and a wide gold sash, and her new diamond sparkled on her left hand, which she was constantly waving to friends in acknowledgment of many greetings.

Anne and John sat side by side, chatting with Mr. and Mrs. William Faversham, Jr., who drove in from Concord to offer their congratulations. Anne, in a Bermuda tan, was effectively set off by a pleated turquoise evening gown, and Mrs. Faversham wore a dainty creation of white chiffon, printed with small clusters of red flowers to match the little bouquet in her blonde curls.

At a nearby table Sue Carl and Janet McNeil enjoyed a little after-the-movies celebration, and Mr. and Mrs. Roydon Loring and Catherine Richardson, the artist, were other socialites occupying tables at the edge of the roof, where they got the most of the evening breeze. YACHTING ENTHUSIAST—Watching the King's Cup races off Marblehead yesterday was loads of fun for Carol Shepard, who was a guest aboard the U. S. Navy destroyer which followed the course. The ferry ride ashore was also fun as indicated by Carol's broad grin as a sailor held the tender for her to jump on to the dock. Right behind her in the print dress is Edythe Thurber, daughter of Lt. Commander Thurber. Miss Shepard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Shepard, Jr., of Marblehead Neck.

Costume Party
For Children

The annual children's costume party at the New Ocean House in Swampscott will be held Wednesday, August 24. The program is to be arranged by Miss Mary Duffey and Mrs. Marie Rathburn.

Last Saturday was the date of the annual costume ball for grown-ups, with prizes won by the following: Mrs. Charles Donovan was attired as an Italian flower girl; Mrs. E. W. Bowman as Sonja Henie; Virginia Halverson and Samuel Tucker as Little Eva and Uncle Tom.

Other prize winners were Marjorie B. Kenick, Mrs. Charles E. Fay, Mrs. Robert Watson and Mrs. Isabel C. Leonard.

Berkshire Fetes
For Miss Schenck

Berkshire hostesses are busy with plans to entertain Miss Anne Remsen Schenck, of London, who arrives tomorrow to visit her grandmother, Mrs. J. Frederic Schenck at Lenox. Miss Remsen is the daughter of Mrs. Frederic Schenck of Lenox, and a niece of Miss Anna Remsen Alexander of Lenox.

Marblehead
Rehearsal
In Garden

No cooler spot could have been found for a dress rehearsal of the Marblehead Arts Ball than the terraced garden behind Mrs. Roger S. Haskell's quaint old Marblehead house. Members of the committee met there yesterday afternoon and made an odd sight parading about the garden in costumes depicting everything from a pet dragon fly to the "Knave of Hearts" in Alice's Wonderland.

Mrs. Haskell, who is co-chairman of publicity for the ball, which takes place August 26 at the Hotel Marblehead, practiced mowing as she strutted about in a black plush version of the Cheshire Cat.

Helping her line up the other girls and past judgments on the suitability of their costumes were Mrs. Arthur Heintzelman, whose husband is director and chairman of the ball. Also Mrs. Leslie Purdy, Mary Ives, Mrs. Clifton A. Sibley, Mrs. Fred Spaulding, Susan Howell and Mrs. Edward Underwood.

These and other members of the committee will appear in a fifteen minute fantasy presented as a prologue to the ball. Internationally known Marblehead artists have spent considerable time designing scenery and costumes.

Presiding the ball many Marblehead and North Shore hostesses will entertain at dinner parties. Mrs. Richard Searle of Marblehead Neck will have guests as well as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coletti of Manchester, and there will be a large Dutch Treat dinner at the Eastern Yacht Club.

Additional committee members include Mrs. R. Devereux Barker, Mrs. Robert G. Wigglesworth, Mrs. Elizabeth Winslow, Mrs. Richard D. Searle, Mrs. Robert C. Terry and Mrs. Howard Turner.

Chauffeur

Income from a $20,000 trust fund and $2500 in cash today was Angelo Tarsanto's reward for faithful service as a chauffeur to Miss Lash Young, who died August 8 at the age of 85 at her home on Lake street, Newton Center.

Tarsanto, who lives in Waltham, also was given an automobile and all personal property in the garage and stable, according to terms of the woman's will filed in Middlesex Probate Court.

The remainder of a large estate goes to five nephews and nieces: Alan J. Young and Rhoda C. Chase of Newton; Anna M. Young of Philadelphia, and Charles H. and Ernest W. Young, both of Lawrence, Kansas.

Bar Harbor

Annual Fancy
Dress Ball
At Club

Social life at Bar Harbor is reaching its mid-August peak with the annual fancy dress ball at the Bar Harbor Club tomorrow evening outstanding among the week's festivities.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. John Hampton Hanes, chairman; Mrs. Tristram C. Whitket, Miss Mignon Fiedler, Mrs. Alfred H. Geary, Mrs. Robert Augustus Jay and Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson. Proceeds of the ball will be used to defray expenses of a new wing in the Mt. Desert Hospital.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd of Boston, who is passing the summer with Mrs. Byrd and their children at their camp at Lally's Cove, Mt. Desert, will appear at the ball, which will be held at the point region will be open.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Moran of Boston, who are spending the summer at the Yacht Club, will appear at a large dinner party over the week end at the point of Princess Margaret of Rome.

Mrs. John J. Moran of Boston, who is vacationing at the Yacht Club, gave a dinner and large party to honor of her daughter, Kathleen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tucker Burr of Milton are making their annual mid-summer visit at Bar Harbor.

Mrs. C. Mary Jones has leased the Peckham cottage for the remainder of the season and has been joined by the Misses Nancy and Stanley Jones.

Members of the summer colony served as mannequins at the annual "In the Garden Fashion Show," held yesterday afternoon for the benefit of a Mt. Desert hospital. They included the Misses Lois Thayer, Virginia Whitcomb, Kathleen Sawyer, Mary Roberts, Ruth Clark, Natalie Munson and Charlotte Munson.

Song Row Ends,
Show Goes On

SALISBURY, Aug. 16.—After a spirited controversy over the withdrawal of an important exhibit in Salisbury's tercentenary celebration pageant, it was decided today that the show is to go on.

The question was whether or not Lottie Collins, famous as the singer of "Tears in the Rain," a song out of the day Nineties was really a first girl born in a first century.

Some claimed she was an English actress.

Mrs. Lillian Adams of Newburyport, a half-sister of the famous Lottie, finally settled the question.

"Little came home to spend her last days," said Mrs. Adams. "She was born in Salisbury, died and was buried there. She sang only sang the song, but she also wrote it."

COMMENT

Help Industry, MacMillan Plea

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Helping business is the best formula for dealing with the social problem in the United States, according to Stanley L. MacMillan of Boston, head of the Abernethy Company, construction managers.

Mr. MacMillan told me:

"I do not see that conditions and prospects in the construction industry have shown any particular improvement, nor do I look for any great improvement until such time as the national and state governments realize that in addition to social problems, there are problems of helping industry and problems of effecting governmental economies that also need attention.

"It seems to me that the social problem would be very much less acute if industry had not been saddled with such a deluge of laws, rules and regulations as have occurred in the past few years.

"H. K. Ferguson, head of the construction firm which bears his name, revealed a moderate improvement in new construction since the revision of the federal tax law.

CITIES TAX LAW AID

"The modification of the tax law definitely has relieved some new construction ventures," Mr. Ferguson told me. "However, the change for 1932 has not been as helpful as it would have been if the President had not allowed the bill to become a law without his signature, and at the same time made a definite statement that he would try for a reconsideration of the undistributed profits tax next year.

"If this law is again levied, I think that some earnest and concerted effort should be made to see that a specific exemption is given for money spent for bona fide investments for new equipment and buildings.

"This in itself would prove a great incentive for heavy construction and equipment work, which would employ a good many thousands of men, and put a good deal of money into actual circulation in exchange for useful work."

Asked concerning the near-term outlook, Mr. Ferguson replied: "The outlook for industrial construction for the remainder of this year is fair. Any improvement in stock market prices is always conducive toward new investments in plant and equipment, for the reason that industrial executives always feel more encouraged and optimistic as to their financial and business outlook when their securities are selling at fair prices, and the outlook for new money is favorable."

Showing how the tax factor had deterred new building, Mr. Ferguson added:

"In comparison with the year 1926, when the normal income tax on corporate earnings was 12½ per cent, the present 1932 normal income tax is 14½ per cent, with an added undistributed profits tax of 2½. This makes a total of 17 per cent, whereas in 1926 they only had to earn 11½. The net result of course is that this build-up in taxation has actually increased the cost of building to the owner to the extent of 6½ per cent."

NEW JOBLESS DRIVE

A drive to keep 8000 men at work on Boston WPA road projects was under way today with a first red flag given a $10,000 loan order in the City Council.

Good News

PLYMOUTH, Aug. 16.—Puritan Mills announces proposed addition of 48 new looms within a month, a 10 per cent increase in payroll, and the expectancy of capacity production to extend at least until the beginning of 1933. Puritan Mills are working on night and day schedule.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 16.—All employees of the plant of American Viscose Corporation, who were laid off when forces were curtailed in March, will be called back to work within the next two weeks, H. C. Noron, manager, announced. The order will affect approximately 600 employees and will put all of the plant's 4300 employees back on at least a 32-hour week.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP).—July chain store sales topped June, Chain Store Age reports. Volume as measured by the trade publication's index advanced to 102.2 of the 1925-31 average for July taken as 100, compared with the revised figure of 100.5 in June.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP).—Operations in the steel industry for the current week will advance 1 point to 40.4 per cent of capacity, compared with 39.4 per cent last week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Business of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company is continuing about 15 per cent above early June and the company looks for a continued but gradual improvement.

FRAMINGHAM, Aug. 16.—The Dennison Manufacturing Company, announces that it is in a position to take advantage of a general business recovery. The selling organization has been maintained at full strength. The factory, while operating on a 36-hour basis, has speeded employment.

Detroit Sees Job Increase

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP).—Resumption of operations by the Ford Motor Company after a two weeks' shut-down gave impetus today to what observers in the automobile industry assert is an upturn in factory employment in the Detroit area, expected to reach its peak within the next month or six weeks.

By that time all automotive plants should be in production on their 1932 models with a potential market for a large volume of replacements aided by a sharp reduction in used car accumulations and what should amount to a shortage in new cars.

The Ford company recalled approximately 24,000 workers by the end of the week it expects to have around 37,000 back at work. Normally it employs around 35,000 in its parent plant at River Rouge.

There has been considerable activity in the parts and tool plants in preparation for new model activity, but a major boost to employment will come when General Motors announces reopening of its divisions.

100 CHINESE DROWN

SIANGHAI, Aug. 16 (AP).—More than 100 Chinese passengers drowned today when a coastal steamer sank after a collision with the British steamer Tungwo off Wouning.

Deal Awaiting 'Big 16' Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (INS).—President Roosevelt is awaiting a program of joint action from 16 of the nation's top-flight business and industrial leaders to promote a prosperity based on co-operation and confidence, it was learned today.

It is forthcoming from the same 16 chiefs who, on April 26, signed a pledge endorsing Mr. Roosevelt's call for arms for resumption of normal industry as outlined in his spend-less message to Congress and the nation on April 14.

These recommendations are expected to form a basis for an entente cordial between business and government, and a means of further consolidating the gains already realized in the recovery drive.

They will manifest in concrete terms for the first time business' earnest desire to join hands with the administration in the nation's march toward better times.

MAY APPROVE ALL

Mr. Roosevelt is looking forward to the proposals before Congress convenes. After studying them, he may transmit some, if not all, to Capitol Hill. The program is expected to embrace the entire field of industrial relationships.

One of the major points of the program is expected to deal with the housing situation. New Deal advocates and business experts have agreed that housing, perhaps more than any other phase of the industrial picture, can aid materially in stimulating business and employment.

There is a $4,000,000,000 gap in housing construction yet to be filled, experts say. By driving down construction material costs and persuading labor to accept an annual rather than hourly wage—a New Deal objective—a housing boom of vast proportions could be touched off, it is held.

Upon returning to the White House following a month's absence, Mr. Roosevelt received reports that efforts to develop a spirit of co-operation between government and business have met with considerable success.

OTHER GOOD SIGNS

Other developments of the recovery front:

1.—PWA's disclosed $200,000,000 will be pumped into the arteries of private business within 30 days for construction of more than 1000 projects valued at $2,000,000,000.

2.—The Administrator of Veterans' affairs announced 15 contracts for new construction of veterans' administration facilities have been awarded, totaling $8,000,000.

3.—The Lumber Survey committee of consumption reported to the Commerce Department that a substantial increase in new orders booked at the mills since late June was due to increased residential building, replacement of depleted local inventories "in anticipation of continued upward building trend."

HOURLY

PLAY-BY-PLAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

A flurry of buying which came into the stock market just before mid-day carried prices one to three points higher in a continuation of yesterday's recovery. Led by steels, rails, motors and rubbers, the whole list tilted upward.

10-11—Leases and loans were about evenly divided. U. S. G. an exceptionally slow start. Price changes were measured by small fractions. After the ragged opening a few steels, motors, rubbers, rails and specialties tilted the edge forward. Dealings were even slower than in yesterday's apathetic session. Business optimism remained as the principal speculative prop. Wall Street seemed to be less concerned over German-Czech war talk. As the second hour approached numerous issues were unchanged or behind minus a cent. General Electric edged slightly up on an opening block of 1000 shares. Transactions 150,000 shares.

11-12—A moderate amount of buying in rails snapped the market out of the doldrums. Selected issues tilted upward in a continuation of Monday's recovery. At mid-day many of the leaders stood at upturns which ran from one to two points. A bit discouraging to recovery proponents was that the swing was much slower than in the previous session. Favored in the rise was U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, duPont, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, common stock and Westinghouse. Montgomery Ward at one time showed a gain of more than a point. Sears Roebuck traders paid but scant attention to a poor earnings statement. For the 24 weeks ended July 16, the company reported net profits of $7,118,888, against $15,190,441 in the same period of the previous year. The stock moved forward with the rest of the list. The turnover was 360,000 shares.

11-1—Spurred by news from Detroit that several plants of General Motors and Chrysler had advanced schedules for 1932 models, stocks continued their upward push. Practically every issue showed a gain and in some cases the upswing ran to around 3 points. Motors, steels and rubbers led the movement. Trading was speedy in comparison to yesterday's listless performance. Recently weak commodities, including grains which have been hanging around fix-year lows, accompanied stocks on the rebound. Near the fourth hour some profit taking appeared and many issues reacted slightly from the highs. Selling was on a moderate scale. The movement in steels was aided by reports that the demand for steel would expand broadly after Labor Day. The volume was 460,000 shares.

1-2—Profit taking soon dried up and many of the leaders started a new ascent. Fraction by fraction the pivotal issues climbed to higher levels. The strength of the list failed to attract buying power. Further curtailment of plant operations by International Harvester for the purpose of working off inventories did not affect important shares particularly. Copper shares were undisturbed by early sales of export metal at under 10 cents a pound for the first time since July 21. The market was called upon to meet another burst of selling as the fourth hour neared its close. In some cases extreme gains were halved. The pace then slowed down to a listless crawl. Sales totaled 600,000 shares.

MORE COTTON USED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP).—The Census Bureau reported today cotton consumed during July totaled 449,511 bales of lint and 51,805 bales of linters, compared with 442,742 and 56,106 during June.

State's Security Share $29,000,000

Massachusetts has received a total of $29,000,000 in Federal funds under Social Security, it was pointed out by Governor Hurley in connection with the 17th anniversary of passage of the old age assistance act.

The payment of these millions has enabled the State to make awards in larger amounts to all persons receiving assistance than could otherwise be done," the governor stated.

Yankee Angel Gives Ferrell Golden Kiss

IT COMES AS A SLIGHT SHOCK TO anyone who learned his first lessons in penmanship and morality by scrawling copy book maxims in the little red schoolhouse day to discover that virtue has not been its own reward in the case of Wesley Ferrell. Wesley has just been signed by the pennant-bound Yankees at his old salary and a promise of a half-share in the World Series purse.

But had he remained a docile, obedient workman who kept his neck bent, always said "sir" to his managers, never spoke the naughty words or incited his teammates to nervous spasms, Wesley would still be with Washington's Senators, or Tom Yawkey's Mother Goose boys, or Cleveland's Indians. In that case Ferrell would not have cut himself any World Series cake.

Wesley failed to hold his three previous jobs because his soul was beset by a swarm of pesky obdurations which made him a nuisance above his abilities to hurl a five-ounce baseball a bit better than major league average. He wore down the patience of his employers and gradually became such a pernicious pest that they gave him away for tops, jackknives or something out of the playground.

So, when Clark Griffith, who is a patient man with pestiferous, but winning pitchers, cut his tether last Sunday, it looked as though Wesley had nowhere to go but back to his corn and cotton farm and spend the last years of his youth hoeing hominy. He penned a few job-appeals to clubs around the American and National Leagues, but all returned his applications with little nolo-notes attached. Nobody seemed to want this human seidlitz powder until the Yankees invited him in at his old pay and made him part of the best ball club in the world.

He Hadn't Asked the Yankees

THUS FATE FUCKERS UP A GOLDEN KISS for a guy about to dwindle into the mist and Ferrell finds himself bettered in money and working conditions over what he has been for the last ten years. Yet, oddly, he hadn't coaxed the Yankees for a job on the supposition that they had more than their share of picturesque characters, like Goofy Gomez, Twinkletones Selkirk and Jake Powell and wouldn't want to make Joe McCarthy's hair any grayer by further worry.

In signing Wesley the Yankees are aware of his gift for fuss, fury and uproar. They were moved by pure business consideration in thinking that Ferrell can't work up much irritation in the six weeks remaining in the season. And if he can win them three or four ball games, the expenditure in patience and money will be more than offset by their pot of pennant gold.

This latest twist in his travels means that a job of sign painting will have to be done on the big board that hangs just outside his plantation at Guilford, N. C., where signifiers are acquainted with the latest history by a sign which reads "Home of Wesley Ferrell, Pitcher for the Yankees."

The space always being kept subject to change and undoubtedly altered within the last few days to read "Yankees." For Wesley is inordinately proud of his prowess and would certainly have pulled down the sign altogether if fortune had beckoned him into retirement from the major leagues. His natural ego would have prevented accepting a minor league job and he often said that when his usefulness to baseball was over he would polish up his golf game and follow the professional tournaments for fun and cash rewards. He was proud of his golf, too.

Cochrane His Only Rival

UNLESS IT WAS MICKEY COCHRANE, I have never seen an athlete so consumed by ambition to win as Ferrell is, so that he used to sit in the Red Sox locker building after his pitching failures and chew the membrane from his lips and bite holes on his wrists from pure thwart and frustration. Even in the south after meaningless exhibition games, I have seen him simmer away in his underwear long after his mates had sponged, towelled and departed, mumbling swears at himself and gnawing his knuckles.

No ball player loves to lose, and least of all Mickey Cochrane who used to hang his pants with quivering hands and chest protector against the wall every time he lost a game. His natural ego which compelled him to triumph, in his own mind, was buried up by an intense desire to win and pitch, part of the reason why he

Sox Open Home Stay Against A's

Bagby To Oppose Nelson

With flag hopes about gone, our battered Red Sox open a long home stay, after a disastrous road trip, against the Athletics today, hoping to start a drive for second place.

The cold records show that the runner-up position in the A. L. is open to the Sox, who are only four games away from the championship and are only one game behind the Yankees and the Athletics.

The Sox have a big lead in the home stand, having won 10 of 11 games at home, while the Athletics have won only 4 of 11.

So, it's the second day when the Sox goal is to stay in the lead, and the Athletics are in the hands of the Sox.

Manager Joe Cronin is sending Jim Bagby, his prize rookie, after today's game and Connie Mack will counter with Lynn Nelson, his wild but effective right hander, who has eight triumphs against six losses.

VOSMICK WILD
Down in Shibe Park recently Nelson hit Cramer and then fell, made by nicking Vosmick which did not set any too well with Joe. The Sox fielder was all for getting out on the field and setting the issue, but he was prevailed upon by cooler heads to forget the matter.

Chances are, though, that there will be no trouble today, as Manager Joe Cronin has issued specific instructions to play ball and forget past hard feelings.

The Sox manager has watched his club drop its last five games in a row and he realizes that unless they perk up immediately that the Sox may, against a 2-0 lead, get past hard feelings.

And these next few days will just about tell whether the boys have thrown up the sponge or are going to hustle for that second place home.

MAROONS TO ST. LOUIS?

Johnny McNiff, who was the first North Shore golfer to win the junior championship since Ralph Munroe accomplished that feat thirteen years ago, began the defense of his title today at the Salem Country Club.

Jackie Sheehy, another Salemite, will be watching in this junior championship. The Sheehys got to a good start when they defeated the Phillips yesterday at Shilo Park. Richard Merriwell Erickson is winning his spurs with the Reds. During their long stay at home Joe Cronin's Red Sox should regain some of the ground they lost on their last road trip, providing they get some major league pitching. John Cronan, who recently returned from a trip abroad playing golf on many European courses while touring Holland, France, Italy, Switzerland and England. Although he has been with the New York Giants for a month his "Air Cooled Teeth" Seeds is the fifth ranking International League player in the Sport Fan popularity contest.

Young Dave Sullivan, Norfolk, was 78 during a practice round yesterday at Salem, despite the fact that he finished 5-3. Dave is only fifteen years old and looks like a second Wilfred Crossley. Tommy Gorman, General Manager of the Montreal Forum, is trying to interest Joe Cattarovich and Leo Dandurand, former owners of the Canadiens in the Maroons, which club he would like to transfer to St. Louis. But, who should any American promoters step aside and allow Canadians to sponsor hockey in the Mount city. Bill Lillard, for whom Connie Mack is alleged to have paid $40,000 in cash and three ball players to the San Francisco Seals, broke into professional baseball with the Tucson Cowboys in the Arizona-Texas League. Incidentally President Charlie Graham of the Seals has another major league prospect in Neal Aronoff, a southpaw seafarer, who was hitting .400 in the Arizona-Texas League, until he was forced to return to the coast a month ago to undergo an operation.

Turner to Face Phils As B's Seek 2d Win

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16—Little Hal Warbler and young Dick Merriwell Erickson combined their respective batting and pitching talents yesterday to earn a 2-1 victory over the Phillies and thus enable Casey Stengel's hired hands to tighten their hold on fifth place.

Warbler, who once toiled for Connie Mack's Athletics at Shibe Park, made his home at the Phils' new ball yard, rapping out three base knocks in four chances to pace the Reds' 13th attack. Hal's first clout was a triple, he scored twice himself and drove in another run.

While Warbler's unusually robust batting materially aided the Reds scoring, it was Erickson's furbering in the ninth that thwarted a Philly rally and salvaged the decision. Dick retired Catcher Spill Davis and Pinch Hitter Cap Clegg with the tying runs on base to end the game.

REDS GAIN
Since the Brooklyn Dodgers were held idle by command of the National League, scheduled yesterday the Reds added a third game to their Pittsburgh schedule. Stengel's men, now seven and a half games out of the pennant, flattened the Phils. Tommy Nelson has a 1-0 lead, he will assign A. H. H. to the mound. The Reds' lead is 2-1. The Phils' lead is 1-0. The Reds' lead is 2-1. The Phils' lead is 1-0.

Fullerton Tries 'Iron Man' Stunt in Park Loop Tonight

One Fullerton, who led the count for the Holy Name club in the T. F. N. Park Loop last night, was attempting one of his patented twilight loop "Iron Man" stunts tonight when the teams play the deciding game at Fenway field.

It was a dramatic game, the Holy Name club, the team which has been the favorite of the fans, was defeated by the Fenway team, the team which has been the favorite of the fans. The game was a close one, with the Holy Name club leading for most of the game, but the Fenway team came back in the ninth inning to win the game.

lost his job at Detroit may trace to the way he squandered his nervous reserve. Possibly the seeming misfortune of losing his job will be a blessing in disguise, for I have heard Jimmy Dykes, his old companion and admirer, say that Mike was a dead sure clinch to bust a blood vessel or stop his heart action by the combustion of his wrath. So in the end, I am fond enough of the bridgewater corker to prefer him jolly and alive than deceased and still wearing his managerial toad.

Grove Met Fate Calmly

WELL, NO PITCHER LOVES TO LOSE either, though most of them learn to make up a fair puss over disaster, knowing that into each life a little rain must fall. So they manage to sleep the nights away after each defeat without stifling their soles with a pillow or taking soothing doses of opium. Even such an old irreconcilable as Lefty Grove, when his arm went dead again, accepted his fate piously without railing against the gods. He who had walked the Chicago waterfront until the wee hours of the morning after a 1936 defeat, accepted fate's probable "Finis" with calm.

But defeat to Fenell was ever a Sarah Bernhardt tragedy in which he went home to hide, sometimes refusing to feed himself and suffering in solitude, or by slugging himself into semi-insensibility or by kicking over the water fountain or shredding his uniform or dancing on his gold watch or pounding the clubhouse hot water plumbing with a bat or scandalizing his mates with blasphemies.

So, his greatest sin was his inability to control his emotional reflexes and he was chased away by managers who wished, one by one, to subdue their saints. Until now, by sheer peevishness, he has come up for the last time with his boots full of fish as a member of the prospective world champions and with a better job than he ever had at the top of his personal pitching boom.

Mrs. Fabyan Turns Back Australians

FANS LIKE VOSMIK-- JOE LIKES WHEATIES!

Boxer fans enjoy watching their star leftfielder pound Fenway's fences. And they feel mighty secure, too, about the way Joe takes care of his garden-tending assignment. Besides sporting a hefty batting average, this fleet-footed leftfielder is one of the game's best when it comes to keeping the crowd to its feet with thrilling catches.

Wham! Joe Vosmik lays the old hardwood against the horsehide—and the ball takes a mighty ride. And Joe's name goes up higher and higher in the Red Sox batting averages. The Sox leftfielder, always tough at the plate, goes to bat for Wheaties, too, when he demands: "Put my name in the Wheaties column—and that's for keeps."

Joe Vosmik spears into a package of Wheaties just as expertly as he spears flies in the Sox outfield. He thinks Wheaties taste swell.

MR. BOSTON

Lou Smith's New | Used Gold Dust®
System on Passes | To Pay Bettors

By JACK CONWAY

LOU SMITH, on his way to the Cape for a few days rest, declared race track passes are a nuisance, and that the tracks must get some revenue at the gate to continue their present high brand of racing.

Mr. Boston

"Next year," said Lou, "I don't believe we shall have any passes at Rockingham Park. We shall charge a flat rate of 50 cents for the grandstand and $1 for the clubhouse. In this way we shall also save $6000 which it costs us to print and mail out season and daily passes."

The New England public refuses to pay the top price for race track admissions as they do in New York and in California. In New York it is necessary to know Mayor LaGuardia, Jimmy Walker or Bill Armstrong to get a pass to one of the New York tracks. In California, even newspapers are only given working press tickets to the tracks. The funny thing out on the Coast is that Santa Anita, which started the no-pass drive, often has crowds ranging from 40,000 to 60,000 people.

The owners of Santa Anita argue that if you give the public good racing they will turn out, and that if you don't give them the best of racing you could not get them to go to the track with the aid of a bonus.

Carefree Days in the West

THE WEST OF 50 years ago had thousands of gambling houses where you could play roulette, roll dice, play cards or indulge in any other game of chance that interested you.

Of course you didn't have to pay money to enter any of these gambling houses. When your presence in town became known, the owner of the principal gambling house would send a horse and buggy to your hotel so that you wouldn't be delayed in risking your money. The owner of the gambling house would also furnish you with drinks, sandwiches, and cigars or cigarettes, and in cases where you went broke he would loan you a new stake to take care of your hotel bill.

The better Western and Alaskan gambling rooms paid off with gold. The late Tex Rickard, who got his start as a promoter running gambling rooms in Reno and in the Yukon, used to keep a large box filled with gold dust in his office in Madison Square Garden.

When Tex was in a jovial mood, he liked to finger the gold dust, and tell stories of when men were men in the West. Brought up in that atmosphere it was easy to see how Rickard didn't blink an eye when he guaranteed $500,000 for the Dempsey-Carpenter bout, offered Dempsey $800,000 to fight Tunney in Philadelphia, and later tried to get Tunney to waive his percentage privilege and take $1,000,000 for his second tussle with Dempsey in Chicago.

Tunney had been beaten by Rickard in a gamble on the purse in Philadelphia, and refused the Chicago offer. So instead of getting paid off with $1,000,000 Gene received $985,000.

THE BETTORS have become more conservative this year. This is due to the fact most of them have not got as much money as they formerly had as a result of the business recession, and a realization on the part of the fans that it is impossible to beat the races.

One can beat a race, but he cannot beat the races.

I think more people are going to the races each day for the enjoyment they get watching the thoroughbreds in action and out of a day in the open air than they do with the thought they are going to break the mutual machines.

I like to bet on horse and dog races, but I limit the amount of my wagers with the thought in mind that if one plays every race, which I usually do, the old percentage is running very much against him.

My day at a track is complete if I can come up with one long shot that comes down in front as Paddy did at Narragansett Park on Saturday. I don't get any particular kick out of picking a favorite to win.

I believe owners of race tracks should be pleased that bettors have become more conservative. It will result in the leveling off of wild mutual handles, but it will mean that racing will last longer and will not be under such heavy fire from business and other sports interests.

In countries like England and France where they have had legalized betting for a great many years, you find large, active crowds at the races, but the betting is conservative. People in those countries look upon going to the races as a holiday, and are more interested in the outing than they are in the possibility that they may make money at the track.

Although Bourne is occupying the lowly cellar berth in the Cape Cod League, Charlie "Boaz" Kendrick, Winchester boy, has done right well by the Canal mine. He has pitched the outfit to four victories in his six starts.

Armstrong Favored To Whip Ambers

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—If Lou Ambers, the lightweight ruler, should slick the tar out of Henry Armstrong, the featherweight and welterweight foreman, tomorrow night at the Garden, the high spot of the fight season may be anticipated about a week later, when Ambers corners the New York state athletic commissioners and demands to know why he isn't the new king of the welterweights.

The highly imaginary tableau (considering that Ambers is given no better than a 1-to-3 chance in tomorrow's twice-postponed affair) should be expected to run something like this:

Ambers: All right, didn't I beat Armstrong? And wasn't both of us under the welterweight limit? So why ain't I welter-champion in New York state, like the National Boxing Association says I am everywhere else?

Commissioner John J. Phelan: Har-rumph! I can see there's no use in trying to explain this to you, Ambers. Now we have a lot of decisions to make down here, like which fighter will wear which color trunks, and things like that. Now don't start trying to tell us how to run our business, Ambers.

Ambers: Yeah, I know, General. But why ain't I welter-weight champion? Didn't I lick that guy which was champion?

Commissioner Bill Brown: The contract said you weren't fighting for the welterweight title, young man.

Ambers: Sure, Mr. Commissioner. But what kinda contract is that where I plaster a guy at 135 pounds and you figure he's better than me at 147 pounds? It don't make sense.

Commissioner D. Walker Wear: That isn't the first contract that didn't make sense, Ambers. Ask any lawyer.

Ambers: Yeah, I know, General. But . . .

Phelan: That's the trouble with some of you fighters—always trying to tell the commission how to run its business. We've got a lot of things to decide around here without arguing with every fighter who thinks he ought to be welter-weight champion. You ought to know by this time that Armstrong is welterweight champion. He beat this fellow Britton—no, it was Ross, recently.

(Obviously shaken, the little fighter was led from the room by his handlers.)

P. S.—The two of them, Ambers and Armstrong, again completed their heavy training yesterday. Armstrong knocked down one of his guinea pigs, Lew Feldman.

Vanderbilt Wins Cup Sixth Time

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 16 (INS)

—Harold S. Vanderbilt today again held the King's Cup, most coveted prize in large boat American yachting. Vanderbilt won the cup, presented by the late King George V of England, with his sloop Prestige. It was the sixth time Vanderbilt has won the prize. Four other vessels were in the competition with the Vanderbilt sloop.

When a Feller Needs a Friend

JOE MCCARTHY, pilot of the New York Yankees, has a fatherly feeling for his ball players and especially those that deliver the goods. McCarthy had an off day yesterday and spent much of it with his star pitcher, Joe Vance, who was "floored" by appendicitis. Vance has promised to be up and around when the Yankees make plans for the World Series.

Mdivani's Boat Sold for $500

VENICE, Aug. 16 (AP)—The late Prince Alexis Mdivani's bright red motorboat was auctioned off today for 10,000 lire ($500) to a local boat dealer.

It brought to 500,000 lire ($25,000) the total thus far realized from the sale of personal effects of Mdivani, first husband of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow. Only jewelry of the late prince remained to be sold. Countess Barbara continued to ignore the sale and stay at the Lido.

Sammy Sneed Counts His Money

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 16 (AP)—Sammy Sneed, professional golfer's top money winner, added up a column of figures today and gloated:

"Second place money in the Cleveland open, $1500 — that brings me up to $16,912 for the year. Wow!"

The White Sulphur Springs pro averaged more than a thousand dollars a week in purses during the last month. Here's the breakdown: Second money of $600 for the PGA; first at Chicago, $1500; third at St. Paul, $800; second at Cleveland, $1500—Total, $4400.

Traynor Sparks Up Squad

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16 (AP)—Manager Pie Traynor benched two regulars in an effort to shake his first place Pirates out of the lethargy which has currently made them appear like a second division club.

First baseman Gus Suhr and Al Todd, catcher, whose hitting has slumped, will be given a "rest," Traynor said. They will be replaced by Bill Brubaker and Ray Berres, respectively.

The Pirates' 6-2 loss yesterday to Cincinnati was their fourth in the last five games.

EX-NAZI NET ACE SUICIDE, REPORT

LONDON, Aug. 16 (INS)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, former ace German tennis star and bulwark of the Reich's Davis Cup team who was imprisoned upon conviction of immorality, has committed suicide, a columnist for the London Daily Sketch reported today.

The columnist, Noel Thompson, said he had learned from an official source that Von Cramm took his life in prison.

The columnist wrote:

"It now seems almost certain that von Cramm is dead. I am told he committed suicide three months ago in the prison camp to which he was sentenced for one year.

"My authority is an official one which can hardly be questioned, but which itself admits there is no definite proof."

Von Cramm Suicide Denied by Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (INS)—A report, published in London, that Baron Gottfried von Cramm, former German tennis ace, had committed suicide in prison was officially denied today.

The German court administration announced:

"Rumors that von Cramm committed suicide are untrue. He is serving his 'stretch' in the Lehrter street prison in Berlin."

Von Cramm, once Germany's chief hope in Davis Cup competition, was sentenced to imprisonment for immorality.

Alive?

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, once famous German tennis ace, ended life in jail, asserts London columnist, but Berlin denies this.

London Honors Heroine Puss

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)

Whitey, the hero cat that saved her kitten from a burning building has been made an honorary member of the "Honourable Company of Cats" of London, England. Wrote the Hon. General Organizer N. D. Hackett of the Honourable Company of Cats to Tom Holling, Esq., His Worship the Mayor of Buffalo, Town Hall, Buffalo, U. S. A.:

"My committee has requested me to say how great an honour they would consider it if you will accept, on behalf of the little cat (Whitey), our badge of office and numbered disc, which we would be so proud to offer her as an honorary member of the 'Honourable Company of Cats.'"

Kaiser's Grandchild Marries Prince

POTSDAM, Germany, Aug. 16 (AP)—Princess Herzeleide, 19, granddaughter of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, and Prince Charles Biron de Courland were married today in Potsdam Garrison church with many of Germany's former royal family in attendance.

The bride is the daughter of the Kaiser's fifth son, Prince Oscar.

REVERE STORE, 2 SAFES LOOTED; $1287 STOLEN

Dodge Bride's Tragic Story

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Aug. 16 (INS)—Heavy seas today forced abandonment of the search for the body of Daniel Dodge, 21, heir to a $9,000,000 motors fortune, who flung himself into Georgian bay yesterday apparently in a frenzy from pain of dynamite blast wounds.

The blast had shattered the youth's left hand and arm and burned his body and face.

His bride of two weeks, the former Gore Bay, Ont., telephone operator, Laurine MacDonald, was burned by the blast of dynamite that went off in her husband's hands, but she was able to rush him from the garage of his summer estate to a speedboat and, with the help of three friends, began the race across the bay toward a hospital.

Nearing Little Current, Dodge rose from the bottom of the boat where he had been lying, staggered about in pain and then leaped into the bay.

His body had disappeared by the time the boat was turned to return to him.

BRIDE'S TRAGIC STORY

In the explosion Mrs. Dodge, the 18-year-old girl Dodge met three years ago while he was building his summer estate, was burned, as were Lloyd Bryant, caretaker, and Frank Valquette, camp helper and guide.

Captain C. R. Bradley of Little Current said Mrs. Dodge gave him the following account of the dynamite explosion:

"Dodge and Valquette were inside the garage and Dodge picked up a stick of old dynamite that had been lying around to see if it would work.

"It exploded in his hands and Tunneling through the walls of two adjacent stores, burglars today broke into the Broadway Department Store in Revere and literally cleaned the place out.

When Morris Isenberg, the manager, arrived to open the store for the day's business, he found only empty shelves and an open safe. Merchandise valued at more than $2500 was missing, as was $57 cash and several hundred dollars in checks from the safe.

It was the second break of the day in Revere. The same or another gang also entered the second-floor offices of the Whiting Milk Company in North Shore road, and hauled away an 800-pound safe containing $1200 cash and $700 in checks.

DEMAND POLICE ACT

Today's two robberies were the latest in an apparent epidemic of burglaries and safe-lootings in Revere. Local business men and householders were reported up in arms demanding greater vigilance and more efficient police protection.

Isenberg, manager of the Broadway store, said a solitary police officer was sent to "investigate," and that the officer, after asking a few questions, expressed the opinion the robbery "must have been the work of boys," and went away.

"I took a van company two or three hours to deliver the merchandise to the store," Isenberg declared. "It must have taken nearly that long to move it out, and whoever did it must have had a truck. It was no amateur burglary."

OTHER BIG BURGLARIES

Today's breaks brought the total loot obtained by burglars in Revere during the past two weeks up to more than $9000.

Yesterday, the home of Frank Dorando in True street was broken into and $1500 cash and 500 shares of stock stolen.

Last week there was a safe-blowing in an insurance office almost directly across the street from the Revere city hall.

Canadian Liner, Freighter Collide

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 16 (INS)—Suffering only slight damage above the waterline, the 20,119-ton Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl collided with the 5,582-ton freighter Danby off Red Island, near Father Point, Que., today.

Canadian Pacific Steamship Company officials said repairs would be effected in New York on her arrival Friday.

The Duchess of Atholl sailed from Montreal yesterday on the last of her four Canada-to-New York cruises of the season.

Auto Crashes Milk Wagon; Man Hurt

Milk flowed through Standish avenue, Quincy, today when an automobile crashed a milk wagon, badly injuring the horse and strewing bottles over the roadway.

Harold O'Rourke, 38, of Billings road, Quincy, the milkman, received a slight foot injury. The driver of the car escaped injury.
